 - (iii) a copy of these Procedural Guidelines issued by the Tribunal; and

19. Notwithstanding paragraphs 9, 15 and 17 the Tribunal may exclude the detainee or any other person from the proceedings if that person behaves in a manner that disrupts the proceedings to such an extent that continuing in their presence becomes impracticable. The Tribunal may also conduct proceedings in the absence of the detainee if, in its opinion, it is unreasonable to require the detainee's presence on account of the detainee's illness or for any other cause.
20. The Tribunal may, upon the application of the detainee, at any time, assign to the detainee a legal representative if, in its opinion –
 - (a) it appears desirable in the interest of just execution of the Tribunal's function that the detainee should have legal aid; and

21. The Tribunal may adjourn the proceedings from time to time and may invite the detainee, the Minister or any other person to provide any further information or make any further submission to the Tribunal as it considers appropriate.
22. At the conclusion of the review, the Tribunal shall, after considering everything submitted, presented or communicated to it as hereinbefore mentioned, make such recommendations as it considers appropriate, to the authority by whom the detention was ordered with regard to the necessity or expediency of continuing the detention of the detainee.
23. The Tribunal reserves the right to supplement or amend these Procedural Guidelines as it considers appropriate.
